

Open Research & Creative Activities Forum

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS
DEADLINE MONDAY, NOV. 17

The Open Research and Creative Activities (ORCA) Forum is a quarterly event hosted by the UCR Library's Research Services Department at the Orbach Science Library. The Forum celebrates outstanding student projects/research from across all disciplines and academic levels at UCR, with a special focus on interdisciplinary work and open scholarship.

Each quarter, we invite students to submit to present their research or creative work at the ORCA Forum. Presentations should ideally highlight how project artifacts—such as code, documentation, data, or multimedia—have been, or will be, shared through an open access repository. This is a great opportunity to practice presenting your work in a welcoming environment and the winner will get a special prize!

The fall quarter 2025 ORCA Forum will take place Monday, November 24 in Orbach Library, Room 122 (or present via Zoom) from 2 - 3:30 p.m.

Ready to submit? Scan the QR code to go to our eScholarship submission page and click Submit at the top right to submit a PDF version of the presentation you would like to give.

Submission deadline in Monday, November 17.
